STUDENT RECORDS POLICY

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) was enacted by the United States Congress in 1974 setting forth requirements regarding the privacy of student records. The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. They are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records, with certain exceptions.
2. the right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the student believes are inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights.
3. The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.
4. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the College to comply with the requirements of FERPA.

A. Definitions:

Student – Any individual who is or has been in attendance at Atlanta University of Health Sciences.

Educational Records – Any record (in handwriting, print, video or audiotapes, paper, film, computer or other medium) maintained by Atlanta University of Health Sciences or an agent of the University (including all Staff and Faculty) that is directly related to a student, except as listed below.

Educational Records are NOT:

- i. A record made by a staff or faculty member if it is kept in the sole possession of the maker of the record, is used only as a personal memory aid, and is not accessible or revealed to any other person except a temporary substitute for the maker of the record.

- ii. Records created and maintained by AUHS for law enforcement purposes.
- iii. An employment record of an individual whose employment is not as a result of his or her status as a student, provided the record is used only in relation to the individual's employment.
- iv. Records that contain information about an individual after he or she is no longer a student at the University.

B. Annual Notification: Students will be notified of their FERPA rights annually by publication in the Student Handbook.

C. Where You May Find the Federal Regulations Implementing the FERPA Regulations: A copy of the regulations is on file in the Academic Office.

To comply with FERPA, the University has formulated the following policy:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records.

Following are the procedures for the inspection/review of records:

- A. Students may inspect and review their education records upon request to the Academic Office. The student should submit to a written request which identifies as precisely as possible the record or records he or she wishes to inspect.

The Academic Office will make arrangements for access as promptly as possible (but within 45 days of receiving the request) and notify the student of the time and place where the records may be inspected. If the records are not maintained by the Academic Office, the Office shall advise the student of the correct official to whom the request should be addressed. When a record contains information about more than one student, the student may inspect and review only the specific information that relates to him or her.

- B. Limitation on Right to Access: The University reserves the right not to permit a student to inspect the following records:

- E. Within a reasonable period of time after the hearing, the Dean or an appropriate official of the University will prepare a written decision based solely on the evidence presented at the hearing. The decision will include a summary of the evidence presented and the reasons for the decision.
- F. If, as a result of the hearing, the University decides that the information is inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of the student's right of privacy, it will amend the record and notify the student, in writing, that the record has been amended.
- G. If, as a result of the hearing, the University decides that the challenged information is not inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of the student's right of privacy, it will notify the student that he or she has a right to place in the record a statement commenting on the challenged information and/or a statement setting forth reasons for disagreeing with the decision. The statement will be maintained with the contested part of the record for as long as the record is maintained. Whenever the University discloses the contested portion of the record, it will also disclose the statement.

3. The right to consent to disclosure of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

- A. In general, the University will disclose personally identifiable information from a student's education records only with the written consent of the student. However, records may be disclosed without consent under the following conditions:
 - a. The disclosure is to other University officials who have a legitimate educational interest in the records.
 - i. A College official is:
